

Zedi EFM Walk-up™

Operator Managed EFM

Accurate timely production measurement to make better decisions

Zedi EFM Walk-up is an electronic flow measurement device which gathers production data and delivers it via wireless Bluetooth technology to a handheld unit or to your laptop at the well site. See production data on the device display screen and generate reports and graphs right at the well. The information can then be uploaded to our secure Internet portal.

Zedi EFM Walk-up provides:

- Accurate information while the operator is at the well site in order to make effective decisions about the management of the well
- Similar workflow to what field personnel do now without the paper – the operator will continue to visit the well site to obtain the information
- The ability to share and manage production information faster throughout your company via Zedi's secure web application.

Zedi EFM Walk-up™

Zedi EFM Walk-up provides accurate data that you need to manage your well. Knowing that your numbers are correct improves reporting and increases confidence in your operation.

Improved accuracy of production data and reporting

- Both handheld and laptop options provide standard compliance reporting
- Supports plunger lift applications where accuracy is essential
- Easily export data from Zedi's secure Internet portal through pre-configured Excel spreadsheet reports

Improve productivity of field and office employees

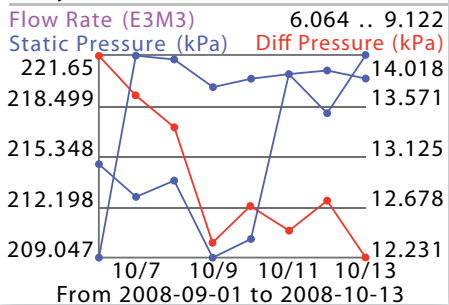

- Enable clear visibility to data regardless of stakeholder location
- Faster dissemination of well information to authorized users
- Reduces rework between the field and production accounting

Keep operations costs low

- Experience the benefits of digitized measurement with comparable pricing to mechanical charts
- Avoid new production costs by using existing business processes to collect data
